Certification of English Proficiency for Jacobs University Students

Dear Madam or Sir:

Please note that Jacobs University Bremen, although located in Germany, is an English-language university that is highly competitive in its undergraduate admission procedures and requires students to prove their proficiency in English before they can be considered for admission to our Bachelor programs. We require a minimum score on the TOEFL of 575 (90 for the internet based test). Comparable scores are required for students taking the MELAB (Michigan Test), the British Council IELTS, the APIEL, and the Cambridge EFL Examinations. In short, each student must be well qualified in writing, comprehension, and speech before her or his application for undergraduate study will even be considered.

More to the point, our students take all of their courses only in English including course evaluation and examination. They live in residential colleges where English is the language of everyday activity and discourse. English is also the language of administration at Jacobs University. Throughout their entire Bachelor studies, our students are immersed in English, and they are without exception absolutely fluent.

If you have questions or require further information about Jacobs University Bremen or its programs, please do not hesitate to contact us at registrar@jacobs-university.de.

Sincerely,

Dr. Freia Hardt
